Kansas City Immigration Law Firm Announces Move to Kansas City's Westside

Sharma-Crawford's move to Kansas City will expand firm's presence and accessibility.

Overland Park, KS & Kansas City, MO (October 18, 2010) The immigration law firm of Sharma-Crawford Attorneys at Law today announced they will relocate from their current downtown Overland Park, Kan. offices to a new, larger location in Kansas City's Westside.

The firm's new location will border both the Crossroads Art District and the Westside community at 515 Avenida Cesar E Chavez, Kansas City, MO 64108. Construction will begin shortly on the new location which sits on the corner of Washington and Avenida Cesar E Chavez.

Michael Sharma-Crawford said, "The move to Kansas City is exciting for us as we expand to serve our growing client base on the Westside and throughout the Region." Sharma-Crawford said construction should begin shortly with occupancy in late 2010 or early 2011. The law firm purchased the previously unoccupied building and will invest considerably in upgrades to the building's exterior and interior.

Sharma-Crawford added, "Kansas City's immigration law issues aren't confined to any one geographic area. The new location gives us excellent access to the entire community while allowing us to invest in the core of the city. The new location also puts us in very close proximity to Immigration Court which is an asset to our firm and our clients.
